

Poll: Millennials want third political party

BY REBECCA SAVRANSKY - 11/29/17 07:38 AM EST

107 SHARES

Just In...

Congressional Radio-TV Gallery pulls RT's credentials after it registered as a foreign agent

MEDIA — 10M 56S AGO

The wrong judges could threaten a generation of women

OPINION — 13M 37S AGO

Spicer on sexual misconduct allegations against Trump: 'All allegations should be treated seriously'

NEWS — 31M 38S AGO

NY state lawmaker prohibited from having interns after sexual harassment allegation

BLOG BRIEFING ROOM — 32M 21S AGO

House votes to mandate sexual harassment training for members and staff

FLOOR ACTION — 32M 23S AGO

We can mine responsibly — restore our rights

OPINION — 33M 38S AGO

Dutch government: Child in video Trump shared wasn't a 'migrant'

ADMINISTRATION — 34M 24S AGO

Key tax holdout to vote yes on starting debate

FLOOR ACTION — 38M 6S AGO

VIEW ALL

© Getty Images

A majority of millennials in a new survey wants a third political party.

An NBC News/GenForward poll finds 71 percent of millennials think there should be a third major party because neither the Republican nor Democratic parties represent the American people well.

Just 26 percent of millennials said they think the major parties now do an adequate job of representing the American people.

A slightly higher percentage of male millennials, 74 percent, than female millennials, 69 percent, think that a third party is needed. Seventy-four percent of young Democrats think a third major party is needed, while 67 percent of young Republicans agree.

A majority of millennials, 63 percent, also disapproves of President Trump's job performance.

Just 22 percent strongly or somewhat approve of the way Trump is handling his job.

Sixty-five percent of millennials also think the country is on the wrong track.

The poll was conducted from Oct. 26 to Nov. 10 among 1,876 adults ages 18 to 34. The margin of error is 3.92 percent.

TAGS MILLENNIALS THIRD PARTY PUBLIC OPINION POLLS

THE HILL 1625 K STREET, NW SUITE 900 WASHINGTON DC 20006 | 202-628-8500 TEL | 202-628-8503 FAX
THE CONTENTS OF THIS SITE ARE ©2017 CAPITOL HILL PUBLISHING CORP., A SUBSIDIARY OF NEWS COMMUNICATIONS, INC.